How your hospital & health centre works

- Te Nīkau Hospital & Health Centre is a fit for purpose, modern facility designed to be a one-stop shop for health care.
- We see people for planned appointments, respond to people with urgent needs, admit and monitor patients that are more seriously unwell and stabilise emergency patients that require critical or specialist care.
- If you already have an appointment you will be directed to the appropriate waiting area.
- If you arrive with no appointment, you will initially be seen by a nurse who will ask you some questions to help us decide how urgent it is for you to be seen.
- Depending on your needs, you may be seen in the Emergency Department or in Primary Care (Te Nīkau Health Centre).

How assessments are made

Emergency patient
Straight to a bed

You have been assessed as requiring immediate care in the EMERGENCY DEPARTMENT (ED)
You will be taken through to a bed and be seen quickly by the emergency team (doctors and nurses).
Examples include life-threatening conditions and injuries, severe breathing difficulty, heart attack, stroke, sepsis.

Emergency patient
Safe to wait

You have been assessed as requiring care in the EMERGENCY DEPARTMENT
You will be seen by the emergency team, but it is safe to sit in the waiting room. You may be given medications, have an ECG or X-ray arranged or have bloods taken before you go through to ED.
Examples include moderate illness, infection, injuries, pain.

Urgent or Routine Primary Care Clinic patient

You have been assessed as requiring primary care in Te Nīkau Health Centre's URGENT or ROUTINE PRIMARY CARE CLINIC
You will be provided with an appointment – for routine appointments, this could be on a different day – with an appropriate clinician. If you are enrolled with another local provider, you may be directed back to your own provider for care.

Why am I waiting?

- After you've been seen by a nurse you will be asked to wait until the ED or Urgent Care team are ready to see you.
- If you have to wait, it's because the team are currently caring for someone whose condition is more serious. Thanks for your patience.
- The waiting area is often busy as it is used by other services. Some patients are waiting for blood tests, x-rays and other pre-booked appointments.
- If you start to feel worse, please let the nurse know.
